Typhoon Sweeps Kan River Valley and Wrecks Many Small Craft.

VICTORIA, British Columbia, May 28.—Disasters involving the loss of 2,000 lives—1,000 in a typhoon and flood in Hankow, and an equal number in a coal mine fire in Kwangsi, were reported from China today in messages brought by the Japanese liner Shinono, just in from the Orient.

The typhoon, the mail dispatches savaged furiously for hours. It swept the Kan river valley with especial violence, reducing hundreds of boats to kindling wood. A flood which followed completed the work of destruction. The work of relieving the survivors' distress and recovering the corpses had just been begun when the Shinono was called.

residence south to C street, and then west along S street until he reached the shrubbery and trees back of the Bureau.

"Stop him, he has killed a man!" Mr. Talbot, stationed at the Monument, heard the pursuers yell, and, running down the slope to the edge of the bushes, he lay in wait until a moment later the negro appeared.

At the command to halt, and the display of Mr. Talbot's gun and badge, Johnson, hesitating a moment, placed the pistol to his temple and sank in a lifeless heap without uttering a word. The mob of fifty or more men who had gathered at the scene came upon the body a few seconds later.

Little Amelia Sidsburger can give no authentic account of the affair, but, realizing that a tragedy was being enacted, was the first to reach her father.

"Get away, little daughter, let papa catch him," said Mr. Sidsburger, in a feeble effort to capture the negro as he left the premises.

Mrs. Nettie Shivers, Mrs. J. E. Adams, Mrs. Ida Owen, and J. H. Smith, a bureau employee, all living within a few doors of the Sidsburger home, agree that the shooting was without warning. The negro, it appears, had waited in the shadows across the street for several moments, and finally, without warning, he walked across the street and into the yard. Seeing Mr. Sidsburger sitting upon the steps, he is said to have remarked, "Howdy, boss," and opened fire.

Johnson, for about five years, had been employed about the stables at the Bureau, and, until his discharge, following his attack upon Mrs. Sidsburger, always had been esteemed by Mr. Sidsburger. He was sometimes sent on errands to the Sidsburger home, and on the day of the attempted assault came to the house pretending to be Mr. Sidsburger's servant.

Mr. Sidsburger served in the regular army for thirty-seven years, and for eighteen years was first sergeant under General Lawton. For ten years he has been connected with the Bureau.

Director Ralph S. Smith, Sidsburger at the hospital this morning, and afterward said:

"He is making a game fight and has a chance. He is highly esteemed at the Bureau, is a fine disciplinarian, faithful and conscientious, and every one hopes for his recovery."

MINISTERS RENOUNCE EPISCOPAL FAITH

PHILADELPHIA, May 28.—Seven Protestant Episcopal clergymen, who yesterday were received into the Catholic Church by Archbishop Ryan, went to the Cathedral Chapel today and received their first holy communion at a mass celebrated by the archbishop. At the conclusion of the mass the seven converts received the sacrament of confirmation.

The entrance of the seven Protestant clergymen into the church is said to be the most remarkable ever known in this country, and in the whole history of the Oxford movement, which led Cardinal Newman and many other distinguished men of the established Church of England into the Catholic Church, there is said to be no record of seven men taking such a step in a body.

Huese Case Is Abandoned By the Washington Police

Convinced that Miss Mary Huese, who died Tuesday night in the George Washington University Hospital, under what at first was believed to be suspicious circumstances, did not meet with foul play while in this city, the Washington police early this morning abandoned the investigation which was begun after an autopsy had been performed by Deputy Coroner Glazebrook.

Mystery still surrounds the circumstances leading up to the death of the young woman, but as the fact has been established that Miss Huese was taken ill before reaching Washington, the local police consider the case out of their jurisdiction. The remains were turned over to the woman's father, John Huese, this morning, and taken to the family home in Franklinton, Baltimore county, Md.

Detective Berman, who went to Baltimore late yesterday afternoon, returned at 11:30 o'clock last night. Immediately after his return, Roland P. Barry, of 305 South Smallwood street, Baltimore, who was held by the police until the investigation had been completed, was released.

WOOD PULP FIGHT LOST IN CONGRESS

ously high prices for paper in the near future, your committee believe it the part of wisdom before making recommendations for positive legislation to wait until its investigation has been completed and thoroughly digested."

Minority Report.

The minority members say:

"When an industry is made the beneficiary of a protective tariff and consumers everywhere are taxed to support it, it assumes an obligation to provide for expansion as the needs of the country may require.

"It is also under obligation to promote the interests of the labor employed in such protected industries. Testimony submitted to the committee indicates that these obligations were not regarded by the paper makers.

"The bill which we recommend will check the destruction of our woodlands, which has been estimated to exceed 1,800 square miles per annum, solely for the purposes of pulp and paper manufacture.

"Every consideration of policy suggests the conservation of our woodlands. When the trees are cut from the hills the land loses its absorptive qualities and the rain causes floods and subsequent droughts, carrying rich soil into the rivers, and entailing harmful consequences upon our national resources.

"We find that the existing duties have raised the price of wood pulp and print paper not only in itself, but by giving to the paper manufacturers a shelter behind which they could organize combinations which, if not technically susceptible of proof as 'unlawful trusts,' are in opinion, really such."

"It is true that the tariff itself, perhaps, might not account for the full advance in price, but the tariff, plus the tariff-generated combinations, do account for all of it.

"We find that the revenues derived from import duties on pulp and printing paper are so small, and the benefits to be obtained from the abolition of those duties are so considerable, that we urge the placing of pulp and printing paper on the free list. We believe that relief from existing conditions can be fully and promptly secured only by the immediate consideration and passage of H. R. 18608, known as the 'Stevens bill.'

ALASKAN RAILWAY UNDER NEW CONTROL

SEATTLE, May 28.—A new group of capitalists has taken charge of the plans to construct the Alaskan Central Railroad and steps are being taken to begin the work of construction at once. John E. Ballaine, the prime mover in the project, is now in Seattle. Mr. Ballaine alleges that methods of former promoters almost ruined the plans for the proposed road, and engulfed it in a maze of litigation from which it was extricated without great difficulty.

Mr. Ballaine said:

"This ends a fight I have been making for a year and a half against reckless and incompetent management. The Alaska Central Railroad will now be built by legitimate methods under competent management and control."

HOW HE WON HIS WIFE.

According to a story in circulation at the time, Daniel S. Lamont was the John Alden of Grover Cleveland in connection with the latter's marriage. Lamont was sent by the President to Buffalo to ask Miss Folsom to marry his chief. There was no "Speak for yourself, John," as Miss Folsom accepted the offer. Miss Folsom, of course, knew her future husband very well, as she had been his ward and had come into frequent and intimate contact with him.
